AQA A-level Sociology \(4.2.2\) Families and Households notes Jenks (2005) believes childhood is changing, not disappearing. Argues childhood is undergoing another change as society moves from modernity to postmodernity. In postmodernity relationships become more unstable, divorce becomes more common. 1. Introduction to sociology In basic terms, sociology is the study of human societies. In other words, its subject matter is both human behaviour and, most importantly, human relationships. It is usually, as you may be aware, classed as one of the social sciences along with subjects like psychology. Sociology Central Teaching Notes Sociology is a social science concerned with the study of human social relationships and the various ways these relationships are patterned in terms of social groups, organisations and societies. "A" Level Sociology A Resource-Based sociological perspectives. Each set of notes is organised around three basic themes: 1. A brief overview of the perspective. 2. An outline of the "basic principles" on which each perspective is based. 3. A brief evaluation of the perspective. These Notes are, therefore, intended to serve as a general introduction to different AS Sociology Family and Households Revision Notes in Sociology. You can also apply the perspectives to many of the other topics within the family, most obviously Marriage and Divorce and Social Policies. There are six perspectives you need to be able to apply, which form the six topics within this topic.
